BIRTHS.

32,063 Births were registered in Scotland during the quarter, being at the annual rate of 299 for every ten thousand of the estimated population, or 2.99 per cent.

In the Principal Town Districts, the Birth-rate for every ten thousand persons was 306; in the Large Town Districts, 310; in the Small Town Districts, 317; in the Mainland-Rural Districts, 273; and in the Insular-Rural Districts, 195.

In Greenock the Birth-rate for every ten thousand persons was 349; in Glasgow, 321; in Aberdeen, 320; in Paisley, 299; in Leith, 291; in Dundee, 281; in Perth, 268; and in Edinburgh, 247.

Of the 32,063 Births, 2156, or 6·7 per cent., were illegitimate. In the Mainland-Rural Districts, 9·3 per cent. of the Births were illegitimate; in the Principal Town Districts, 6·4; in the Small Town Districts, 6·2; in the Large Town Districts, 5·4; and in the Insular-Rural Districts, 4·5 per cent.

A comparative statement of the rate of illegitimacy in the Divisions and Counties of Scotland will be found in Tables I. and II. From Table I. it will be seen that the rate of illegitimacy was highest in the North-Eastern and Southern Divisions, and from Table II. that in nine of the Counties the rate was 10 per cent. or over. The lowest rate in any County occurred in Shetland, viz., 2·1 per cent.; and the highest in Wigtown, viz., 18·1 per cent.

Of the 32,063 Births, 16,474 were of males, and 15,589 of females, being in the proportion of 105·7 males to every 100 females. 10,986 Births were registered during January, being at the rate of 354 daily; 10,010 during February, or 357 daily; and 11,067 during March, or 357 daily.

The Death-rate in Glasgow for every ten thousand persons was 241; in Edinburgh, 220; in Dundee, 214; in Greenock, 205; in Paisley, 204; in Aberdeen, 198; in Perth, 189; and in Leith, 173.

Of the 21,343 Deaths, 10,583 were of males and 10,760 of females. 7310 Deaths were registered during January, or 236 daily; 6995 during February, or 250 daily; and 7038 during March, or 227 daily.

MARRIAGES.

6942 Marriages were registered in Scotland during the quarter, being at the rate of 65 for every ten thousand of the estimated population, or 0.65 per cent.

Marriages were registered in the Principal Town Districts at the rate of 75 for every ten thousand of the estimated population; in the Large Town Districts at the rate of 68; in the Small Town Districts at the rate of 65; in the Mainland-Rural Districts at the rate of 44; and in the Insular-Rural Districts at the rate of 56.

In Glasgow the Marriage-rate for every ten thousand persons was 83; in Dundee, 77; in Paisley, 76; in Aberdeen, 75; in Perth, 73; in Greenock, 68; in Edinburgh, 67; and in Leith, 63.

3625 Marriages were registered during January, or 117 daily; 1637 during February, or 58 daily; and 1680 during March, or 54 daily.

INCREASE OF POPULATION AND EMIGRATION.

The Births for the quarter having numbered 32,063, and the Deaths 21,343, the natural increase of the population, not allowing for changes caused by emigration or immigration, was 10,720. No reliable estimate can be formed as to the number of immigrants, but with regard to emigrants it is found from Returns furnished by the Board of Trade that the number of these for the quarter amounted to 47,717, of whom 18,896 were English, 2442 Scottish, 3488 Irish, 21,510 Foreigners, and 1381 whose nationality was not distinguished, but of whom it may be assumed that 73 were Scottish. If, then, 2442 + 73, the number of Scottish emigrants, be deducted from the number representing the excess of Births over Deaths, the approximate increase of the population for the quarter is found to be 8205.

DISEASES IN THE ABOVE PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

About 36 per cent. of the population of Scotland being resident in these towns, it is believed that the mortality from various diseases observed in them must give a fairly accurate indication of that which prevails in the country at large.

The total Deaths in these towns, was 3074 during January, 2911 during February, and 2968 during March; and of these, 103 in January, 108 in February, and 123 in March, were from causes not specified and ill-defined.

Miasmatic Diseases caused 421 Deaths in January, being at the rate of 3·04 per thousand of the estimated population; 384 in February, or 3·07 per thousand; and 395 in March, or 2·85 per thousand.

Small-pox caused 36 Deaths in January, or 0·26 per thousand; 57 in February, or 0·46 per thousand; and 74 in March, or 0·53 per thousand. To Measles were attributed 78 Deaths in January, or 0·56 per thousand; 72 in February, or 0·58 per thousand; and 53 in March, or 0·38 per thousand. From Scarlet Fever there resulted 13 Deaths in January or 0·10 per thousand; 20 in February or 0·16 per thousand; and 16 in March, or 0·12 per thousand. Hooping-Cough caused 204 Deaths in January, or 1·47 per thousand; 170 in February, or 1·36 per thousand; and 177 in March or 1·28 per thousand. To Diphtheria were ascribed 30 Deaths in January, or 0·22 per thousand; 24 in February, or 0·19 per thousand; and 22 in March, or 0·16 per thousand. From Fevers there resulted 36 Deaths in January, or 0·26 per thousand; 21 in February, or 0·17 per thousand; and 22 in March, or 0·16 per thousand.

Diarrhoea and Dysentery caused 42 Deaths in January, or 0·30 per thousand; 36 in February, or 0·29; and 35 in March, or 0·25.

Venereal Diseases caused 16 Deaths in January, 9 in February, and 14 in March.

From Intemperance there resulted 22 Deaths in January, 8 in February, and 13 in March.

Constitutional Diseases caused 585 Deaths in January, 520 in February, and 541 in March; and of these, Cancer was the cause of 128 in January, of 121 in February, and of 113 in March; Phthisis of 295 in January, being at the annual rate of 2·13 per thousand of the estimated population; 244 in February, or 1·95 per thousand; and 252 in March, or 1·82 per thousand.

Developmental Diseases caused 213 Deaths in January, 211 in February, and 224 in March.

To Diseases of the Nervous System were attributed 308 Deaths in January, 319 in February, and 359 in March.

From Diseases of the Respiratory System there resulted 581 Deaths in January, 665 in February, and 613 in March; and of these, Croup was the cause of 3 in January, of 3 in February, and of 6 in March; Bronchitis of 285 in January, of 328 in February, and of 293 in March; and Pneumonia of 242 in January, 261 in February, and 254 in March.

Diseases of the Digestive Organs caused 208 Deaths in January, 170 in February, and 153 in March.

To Diseases of the Urinary System were ascribed 92 Deaths in January, 74 in February, and 92 in March.

Parturition, or Diseases resulting therefrom (including Puerperal Fever), caused 16 Deaths in January, 14 in February, and 17 in March.

The Violent Deaths numbered 126 in January, 95 in February, and 96 in March.

WEATHER.

The following remarks on the weather of the quarter are extracted from the Meteorological Returns which appear in the Registrar-General's Monthly Reports :—

January was characterised by a mean barometric pressure a little above the average, with a monthly range a little under it; a mean temperature nearly the average, with a mean daily range half a degree under it; an average mean humidity; a mean rainfall fully an inch less than the average, falling one day more than the average; a large preponderance of south-easterly winds, blowing with the average force of the month.

February was characterised by a high mean barometric pressure, with a monthly range a little under the average; a mean temperature two degrees under the average, with a mean daily range half a degree above it; a mean humidity a little less than the average; a mean rainfall, little more than half the average, and falling on three days fewer than the average; an eight days' excess of northerly and north-westerly winds, blowing with a force less than has been recorded since 1891.

March was characterised by a rather low barometric pressure, with an unusually large monthly range, greater, indeed, than any recorded since 1876; a mean temperature, and a mean daily range both rather under the average; a mean humidity, less than the average; a mean rainfall, considerably less than the average, falling one day more than the average; and a large excess of northerly and easterly winds, blowing with a force greater than in any March since 1883.

The mean height of the barometric column, reduced to sea-level and 32° Fahr., was 29·878 inches in January, 30·053 inches in February, and 29·756 inches in March. The mean temperature for the quarter was 37°·4, being 0°·5 below the average mean temperature of the corresponding quarter for the last ten years. The mean temperature during January was 37°·8; during February, 35°·9; and during March, 38°·5. The absolute highest temperature was 57°·7 in January, 57°·8 in February, and 64°·0 in March; the absolute lowest temperature being 15°·6 in January, 0°·5 in February, and 1°·0 in March. Rain fell on 17 days in January, on 13 days in February, and on 16 days in March; the mean depth being 2·97 inches in January, 2·06 inches in February, and 2·43 inches in March. Easterly winds blew on 9 days in January, on 6 days in February, and on 12 days in March. Westerly winds blew on 14 days in January, on 12 days in February, and on 11 days in March. Northerly winds blew on 7 days in January, on 14 days in February, and on 12 days in March. Southerly winds blew on 12 days in January, on 4 days in February, and on 7 days in March.

N.B.—Districts containing Parliamentary and Royal Burghs are printed in capitals, thus—ELINBURGH. Districts containing Towns of 2000 Inhabitants and upwards are printed in small capitals, thus—CARLUKE. An asterisk “*” is prefixed to those Districts which have different names from the Parishes in which they are situated, or which comprise more, or parts of more than one Parish. The component parts of these Districts will be found on page 45. A dagger “†” is prefixed to those Districts which consist of only a part of the Civil Parish of the same name.

METEOROLOGICAL REPORT

FOR THE MONTHS OF

JANUARY, FEBRUARY. MARCH

1901

DIAGRAM

of the

SCOTTISH METEOROLOGICAL SOCIETY.

Reported to the Registrar General of Scotland.

NOTES ON THE NUMERICAL RETURNS OF SCOTTISH METEOROLOGY FOR THE QUARTER ENDING 31st MARCH 1901.

By Dr BUCHAN, under the Direction of the Council of the Scottish Meteorological Society.

THESE returns are founded on the observations made, morning and evening, at 65 of the Stations of the Scottish Meteorological Society, and have been prepared from the Observers' separate schedules.

From the individual results for each station, the following collective results have been obtained, assuming them to have been equally well observed, and to represent the whole country :—

COLLECTED RETURNS FOR ALL THE ACCEPTED STATIONS OF THE SCOTTISH METEOROLOGICAL SOCIETY, HAVING A MEAN LATITUDE = 56°33 N.; MEAN LONGITUDE = 3°45 W.; AND MEAN ELEVATION = 279 Feet.

And when these results are compared with the averages of 1856-1900, during the same months, they show the following characteristics and differences :—

JANUARY 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, 29·878 inches ; greater than the average of 1856-1900 by 0·082 inch.

Monthly Range, 1·585 inch ; less by 0·042 inch.

Mean Temperature, 37°·8 ; greater by 0°·6.

Mean Daily Range, 9°·2 ; being the average.

Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, 50°·2 ; greater by 0°·9.

Do. at Night, 29°·2 ; greater by 0°·7.

Mean Humidity, 85 ; less by 2·6.

Rain, Number of Days, 17 ; being the average.

Rain, Depth in Inches, 2·97 ; less by 0·89 inch.

Wind, Pressure on Square Foot, 2·29 lbs. ; greater by 0·14 lb.

Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 5 to 10, and N. to S. as 5 to 8 ; in place of E. to W. as 5 to 11, and N. to S. as 5 to 8.

Hours of Sunshine, 36 ; less by 15 hours.

Mean Amount of Cloud, 7·0 ; greater by 0·34.

FEBRUARY 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, 30·053 inches ; greater than the average of 1856-1900 by 0·203 inch.

Monthly Range, 1·347 inch ; less by 0·126 inch.

Mean Temperature, 35·9 ; less by 2°·4.

Mean Daily Range, $10^{\circ}8$; greater by $0^{\circ}6$.

Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, $61^{\circ}9$; greater by $4^{\circ}7$.

Do. at Night, $26^{\circ}5$; less by $2^{\circ}5$.

Mean Humidity, 86; less by $0^{\circ}8$.

Rain, Number of Days, 13; less by 2 days.

Rain, Depth in Inches, $2\cdot06$; less by $0\cdot99$ inch.

Wind, Pressure on Square Foot, $1\cdot50$ lb.; less by $0\cdot63$ lb.

Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 4 to 9, and N. to S. as 10 to 3; in place of E. to W. as 5 to 10, and N. to S. as 5 to 7.

Hours of Sunshine, 69; less by 7 hours.

Mean Amount of Cloud, $6\cdot4$; being the average.

MARCH 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, $29\cdot756$ inches; less than the average of 1856–1900 by $0\cdot041$ inch.

Monthly Range, $1\cdot782$ inch; greater by $0\cdot349$ inch.

Mean Temperature, $38^{\circ}5$; less by $0^{\circ}9$.

Mean Daily Range, $12^{\circ}0$; being the average.

Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, $72^{\circ}3$; greater by $6^{\circ}6$.

Do. at Night, $29^{\circ}0$; less by $0^{\circ}4$.

Mean Humidity, 85; being the average.

Rain, Number of Days, 16; 1 day more.

Rain, Depth in Inches, $2\cdot43$; less by $0\cdot41$ inch.

Wind, Pressure on Square Foot, $2\cdot34$ lbs.; greater by $0\cdot19$ lb.

Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 9 to 8, and N. to S. as 8 to 5; in place of E. to W. as 6 to 10, and N. to S. as 6 to 5.

Hours of Sunshine, 97; less by 19 hours.

Mean Amount of Cloud, $6\cdot6$; greater by $0\cdot30$.

JANUARY 1901—

Hence the weather of JANUARY 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure a little above the average, with a monthly range slightly under it; a mean temperature about half a degree above the average, with the average daily range; a very low humidity; a mean rainfall, about an inch less than the average, but falling on the average number of days; a slight excess of N.E. winds, a little stronger than the average.

The mean barometric pressure was $29\cdot878$ inches, or $0\cdot082$ inch above the average. At stations on the eastern side of the country south of the Grampians, the excess of pressure was somewhat less than elsewhere, thus forming gradients for the excess of N.E. winds which prevailed.

The mean temperature was $37^{\circ}8$ or $0^{\circ}6$ above the average, the excess being equally divided between the days and the nights. Over south-western and south-eastern districts, temperature was slightly under the average, whereas at many places north of the Grampians, temperature was fully a degree above the average. The coldest weather occurred on the last week, when the mean temperature at Aberdeen and Leith was $3^{\circ}0$ under the average. The absolutely highest temperature was $57^{\circ}7$ on the 14th at Glencarron, and the lowest $15^{\circ}6$ on the 10th at Braemar.

The mean rainfall was $2\cdot97$ inches, or 23 per cent. under the average. The rainfall was above the average in a few scattered districts in the counties of Aberdeen, Banff, Inverness, Sutherland, and Orkney, but the excess was small, except at Logie Coldstone, where it was 67 per cent. above the average. In all other parts of the country the rainfall was short of the average, the deficiency generally being from a third to a half of the average. Comparatively little rain fell on the first half of the month; but during the rest of the month wet and stormy weather prevailed.

FEBRUARY 1901—

Thus the weather of FEBRUARY 1901 was characterised by a high mean barometric pressure, with a monthly range a little under the average; a mean temperature two degrees and a half under the average, with a mean daily range about half a degree greater; a mean humidity slightly less than the average; a mean rainfall an inch less than the average, fully 2 days fewer than the average; an 8 days' excess of northerly winds, blowing with a force much under the average.

The mean barometric pressure was $30\cdot053$ inches, or $0\cdot203$ inch above the average. Pressure was markedly greater in the west and north than in the east and south, resulting in an unwonted excess of northerly winds with dry cold weather.

The mean temperature was $35^{\circ}9$, or $2^{\circ}4$ less than the average, the days being $2^{\circ}1$ and the nights $2^{\circ}7$ under the average. The lowest temperature occurred in inland situations from the Solway to the Grampians, where at several places it was about three degrees below the average; but at stations in the west near the sea, temperature was scarcely a degree under the average. A marked feature of the weather of the month was the continuously low maximum temperature which prevailed, temperature at a considerable number of places not rising above $45^{\circ}0$ on any day. The absolutely highest temperature was $57^{\circ}8$ on the 20th at Lairg, and the lowest $0^{\circ}5$ on the 14th at Braemar.

The mean rainfall was 2.06 inches, or 33 per cent. less than the average. Its distribution among the stations was very unequal. It was above the average in the counties of Aberdeen, Banff, Nairn, north-east of Inverness, Ross, Sutherland, and Caithness; the excess being 61 per cent. at Gordon Castle, and 50 per cent. at Kingussie, Logie Coldstone, and Wick. Everywhere else it was less than the average, the greatest deficiency, upwards of 70 per cent., being in inland situations south of the Grampians. South of the Grampians, nearly the whole of the rain fell during the last week, but to the north nearly the whole month may be characterised as wet and cold.

MARCH 1901—

Hence the weather of MARCH 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure, a little under the average, with a large monthly range, being the largest that has occurred since March 1876; a mean temperature, nearly a degree under the average, with the average diurnal range; a mean humidity about the average; a mean rainfall a little under the average, falling 1 day more than the average; and 5 days' excess of north-easterly winds, blowing with a force slightly above the average.

The mean barometric pressure was 29.756 inches, or 0.041 inch less than the average. Much lower pressures obtained in the south than in the north. Thus while pressure was 0.088 inch under the average on the Solway, it was 0.008 inch above it at North Unst. The excess in the north and defect in the south brought about a predominance of cold north-easterly winds.

The mean temperature was $38^{\circ}5$, or $0^{\circ}9$ less than the average, the diminution of temperature being equally partitioned between the days and the nights. The deficiency of temperature was nearly equally distributed among all the districts of Scotland. The last week was the coldest part of the month, the mean temperature of which was $8^{\circ}0$ under the average at Glasgow and Aberdeen. The absolutely highest temperature was $64^{\circ}0$ on the 10th at Aberdeen, and the lowest was $1^{\circ}0$ on the 29th at Braemar.

The mean rainfall was 2.43 inches, or 14 per cent. under the average. Its distribution over the country was very irregular. It was above the average over the slopes extending from the Grampians to the Moray Firth, the excess being chiefly due to heavy falls of snow—the excess amounting at Inverness and Logie Coldstone to 50 per cent. Over the rest of Scotland it was under the average, but nowhere was the deficiency excessive. The larger portion of the precipitation occurred in all parts of the country during the first week; and to the north of the Grampians the third and fourth were also characterised by frequent snow and rain.

No auroras are reported for February and March.

REGISTRARS' NOTES.

IN compliance with the following Instructions, many of the Registrars have appended remarks to their Returns, from which the subjoined Notes have been selected. The Registrars alone must be considered responsible for the opinions which they express.

INSTRUCTIONS TO REGISTRARS.

“If, at any time, the Births (whether legitimate or illegitimate), the Deaths, or the Marriages registered during the Quarter have been above or below the average, here state what you consider to be the cause, and whether epidemics, such as Measles, Typhus, Cholera, etc., have prevailed in the District; or if there is any other fact in the character of the Weather, Sanitary or Social Arrangements, Movement of the Population, etc., which will account for the circumstance.”

The Figures refer to the Numbers of the Districts in the preceding Tables.

I. NORTHERN DIVISION.

1. SHETLAND.

2. DELTING.—Of the twenty-five deaths registered, twenty-two were of fishermen lost at sea in the disastrous storm of 21st December.

3. CAITHNESS.

34. BOWER.—Of the nine deaths, four were of females aged respectively 84, 91, 94, and 94. Measles very prevalent, and a few cases of Scarlet Fever, but no deaths from either.

41. THURSO.—Of the thirty-six deaths recorded, twelve were of persons whose ages ranged from 76 to 92 years.

4. SUTHERLAND.

53. LAIRG.—Of the four deaths, two were of infants, and two of persons aged 77 and 92 years.

II. NORTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

5. ROSS AND CROMARTY.

Mainland.

56. ALNESS.—Measles very prevalent, one case proving fatal.

66 (1). NORTHERN DISTRICT OF GAIRLOCH.—Three of the four males who died were aged over 76, and six of the seven females over 78, the eldest being 106 years.

Insular.

86a. BARYAS.—Typhus Fever prevailed in a portion of the Ness district, and caused eight deaths.

6. INVERNESS.

Mainland.

90b. ALVIE.—Of the three females whose deaths were recorded, one was aged 75 and another 86 years.

91a. ARDERSIER.—Measles prevalent during February and the first portion of March, two deaths resulting therefrom. Public School closed for one month.

92b. CANNICH.—Measles prevalent. One School closed during March in consequence.

94. CROY AND DALCROSS.—The five deaths recorded are all of females whose ages range from 79 to 102 years, the average being 88·4.

100. KILMORACK.—Public School closed on account of an epidemic of Measles.

105. MOY AND DALAROSSIE.—The two deaths are of females aged 92 and 93 years.

Insular.

109 (2). MINGINISH.—Death-rate below the average, probably due to so many old people having been carried off by Influenza during the same quarter of last year. A mild type of Scarlet Fever prevailed at the beginning of the year, but caused no deaths.

117 (1). NORTH SNIZORT.—District very healthy, being free even from the colds which usually prevail at this season. One of the two deaths registered was caused by a fall over a rock.

117 (2). SOUTH SNIZORT.—The winter was mild, and the district healthy. Deaths below the average.

118 (3). BOISDALE.—Deaths above the average in consequence of the prevalence of Influenza during February and March.

III. NORTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

8. ELGIN (OR MORAY).

130. DRAINIE.—Three of the males who died were aged respectively 80, 90, and 95 years.

131 (1). BURGHEAD.—Four cases of Small-pox occurred during January, none terminating fatally. The infection was directly traceable to Glasgow.

139. KNOCKANDO.—Measles very prevalent, but only one death resulted therefrom. A few cases of Scarlet Fever appeared.

144 (1). URQUHART.—The three deaths registered were those of persons aged 81, 82, and 93 years respectively.

144 (2). GARMOUTH.—One of the two deaths was that of a farmer accidentally drowned in the River Spey, whose body was washed ashore near Garmouth.

9. BANFF.

153 (1). FORDYCE.—An epidemic of Measles occurred in the village of Sandend, three deaths resulting therefrom.

167. SEAFIELD.—Of the two deaths in March one was that of a Crofter and Agricultural Labourer who had passed his hundredth year.

10. ABERDEEN.

172. AUCHINDOIR.—Two of the eleven deaths were caused by Diphtheria.

173. AUCHTERLESS.—The Measles epidemic which prevailed in December and January has abated without any fatal results.

193. FINTRAY.—Measles of a mild nature prevailed, on account of which the Hatton Public School was closed from February 21st to March 11th.

201. GLENMUCK, TULLICH, AND GLENGAIRN.—Measles very prevalent, but no deaths therefrom.

215. LESLIE.—Measles very prevalent, but caused no deaths.

217. LOGIE COLDSTONE AND CROMAR.—Of the seven deaths, four were of persons whose ages averaged 75 years.

231 (1). EAST PETERCULTER (LANDWARD).—Measles prevailed, but no cases proved fatal.

11. KINCARDINE.

251 (2). PORTLETHEN.—Death-rate above the average, caused probably by cold and unsettled weather.

252. BANCHORY-TERNAN.—Twenty per cent. of the deaths are those of persons temporarily resident in the parish for the treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis or allied diseases.

253. BENHOLM.—Scarlet Fever prevalent, but no deaths therefrom.

IV. EAST-MIDLAND DIVISION.

13. PERTH.

340. COLLACE.—One of the two deaths was due to Influenza.

345. DRON.—The death was that of a male 80 years of age.

351. ERROL.—Of the twenty deaths registered twelve were due to Pulmonary diseases, and one to a Railway accident.

394b. STRATHFILLAN.—The illegitimate birth is the first recorded for ten years.

14. FIFE.

408. BALLINGRY. — Population increasing owing to the development of the coal fields. Measles epidemic in the northern part of the parish. School closed for some weeks in consequence.

416. COLLESSIE.—The deaths exceed the births, an unusual occurrence, probably due to the severe weather.

420. CUPAR.—Of the forty-one deaths registered, ten occurred in the Fife and Kinross asylum.

434. KENNOWAY.—Death-rate unusually high. One case of Diphtheria.

447 (1). MARKINCH.—Of the twenty-two deaths recorded, nine took place in Thornton Poorhouse.

458b. TULLIALLAN.—Three of the eleven deaths were of persons aged respectively 82, 88, and 90 years.

16. CLACKMANNAN.

467. DOLLAR.—The number of deaths is below that for the corresponding quarter of last year, due to the milder weather which prevailed this year as compared with last.

V. WEST-MIDLAND DIVISION.

17. STIRLING.

479. FALKIRK.—Two deaths are recorded from Small-pox. No fresh cases have occurred.

19. ARGYLL.

Mainland.

515. KILBRANDON AND KILCHATTAN.—Measles of a mild type prevalent for the last two months.

527 (2). KILMORICH.—No births or marriages recorded. Many of the young people migrate to the towns.

VI. SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

22. Ayr.

613 (2). CATRINE.—Death-rate extremely low, probably owing to the absence of any epidemic, and to the mildness of the season. A new drainage scheme was carried into effect about two years ago.

23. LANARK.

638 (1). LARKHALL.—Two deaths from Small-pox occurred in the County Hospital in February.

VII. SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

24. LINLITHGOW.

663 (1). BORROWSTOUNNESS. — Measles very prevalent for the last six months. All the Schools were closed for six weeks this year in consequence.

663 (2). CARRIDEN.—Of the thirty-five deaths recorded, twenty-three are of children under 5 years of age. Measles and Hooping Cough epidemic, and twenty-two deaths are due to one or other of these diseases.

25. EDINBURGH.

677. COLINTON.—Of the ten illegitimate births, seven took place in Craiglockhart Poorhouse.

685 (4). ST. GILES (EDINBURGH).—The number of marriages registered is the same as for the corresponding quarter of last year, but the number at which ministers officiated is smaller.

687. GLENCORSE. — One case of Small-pox reported at Glencorse Barracks.

691. LASSWADE.—Three deaths resulted from accidents—one in a coal-mine, one by drowning, and one while cycling. Another was that of a person found dead in a field, death being probably due to exposure.

698a. RATHO.—Two of the five deaths were due to accidental drowning.

26. HADDINGTON.

704. BOLTON.—Two cases of Typhoid Fever occurred during March.

715. ORMISTON.—An outbreak of Measles accounts for three of the eight deaths.

717. PRESTONKIRK.—Of the nine deaths registered, three were of inmates of the Combination Poorhouse, whose respective ages were 73, 79, and 86 years.

27. BERWICK.

733. COLDSTREAM.—Of the thirteen deaths recorded, three were of persons aged respectively 84, 85, and 96 years.

735. DUNS.—Of the 21 deaths, twelve were of persons above 70, one (a female) being aged 90 years.

737. ECCLES.—The three males whose deaths are registered were aged 73, 74, and 76 years respectively.

742. GORDON.—Two of the three deaths were of persons aged 79 and 82 years.

743. GREENLAW.—Births, Deaths, and Marriages decreasing, chiefly due to the depression in agriculture with the consequent employment of as few workers as possible in order to keep down expenses, and also to the fact that many young men seek employment in the large centres of population.

747. LANGTON.—Hooping Cough prevalent in February and March.

755. SWINTON.—A few cases of Scarlet Fever, generally of a mild type, appeared—one death resulting.

28. PEEBLES.

767. NEWLANDS.—Several cases of Measles occurred, but no deaths therefrom.

VIII. SOUTHERN DIVISION.

30. ROXBURGH.

799 (1). MELROSE.—Of the eighteen deaths recorded, four were in the District Asylum.

31. DUMFRIES.

* The actual number of Districts is 1072—many Parishes and Burghs having been divided into two or more Districts for the purpose of Registration. Thus Edinburgh and Glasgow, to each of which only a single number is assigned in the Tables, consist of 6 and 14 Districts respectively. In forming the alphabetical arrangement the principle adopted has been to place compound names in the order in which they are pronounced.

The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations (1) for arbitrary values of the parameters α and β . It is shown that the system (1) has solutions for arbitrary values of the parameters α and β if and only if the condition $\alpha + \beta = 1$ is satisfied. In the case when this condition is not satisfied, the system (1) has no solutions.

In the second part of the paper, the problem of the existence of solutions of the system (1) for arbitrary values of the parameters α and β is considered. It is shown that the system (1) has solutions for arbitrary values of the parameters α and β if and only if the condition $\alpha + \beta = 1$ is satisfied. In the case when this condition is not satisfied, the system (1) has no solutions.

In the third part of the paper, the problem of the existence of solutions of the system (1) for arbitrary values of the parameters α and β is considered. It is shown that the system (1) has solutions for arbitrary values of the parameters α and β if and only if the condition $\alpha + \beta = 1$ is satisfied. In the case when this condition is not satisfied, the system (1) has no solutions.

REPORT.

NOTE.—The estimates of population now used are founded upon the numbers returned in the Summaries prepared by the Registrars after the recent Census. These numbers may be accepted as accurate enough for all practical purposes, and will be employed until the revised details of the Census are available.

During the quarter ending 30th June 1901, there were registered in Scotland 34,646 Births, 20,029 Deaths, and 8187 Marriages. Table III. shows that the Births and Deaths are below, and the Marriages the same as, the average for the corresponding quarter of the ten previous years.

BIRTHS.

The 34,646 Births registered during the quarter give an annual birth-rate of 310 for every ten thousand of the estimated population, or 3·10 per cent.

The Birth-rate for every ten thousand persons in the Principal Town Districts was 320 ; in the Large Town Districts, 340 ; in the Small Town Districts, 321 ; in the Mainland-Rural Districts, 276 ; and in the Insular-Rural Districts, 194.

In Leith the Birth-rate for every ten thousand of the estimated population was 352 ; in Glasgow, 343 ; in Aberdeen, 321 ; in Paisley, 314 ; in Dundee, 311 ; in Greenock, 296 ; in Edinburgh, 262 ; and in Perth, 240.

Of the 34,646 Births, 2113, or 6·1 per cent., were illegitimate. In the Mainland-Rural Districts, the illegitimate births occurred at the rate of 8·0 per cent. ; in the Principal Town Districts, at the rate of 6·2 ; in the Insular-Rural Districts, at the rate of 5·5 ; in the Small Town Districts, at the rate of 5·3 ; and in the Large Town Districts, at the rate of 4·7 per cent.

A comparative statement of the rate of illegitimacy in the Divisions and Counties of Scotland is given in Tables I. and II. Table I. shows that the rate was highest in the North-Eastern and Southern Divisions, and Table II. that in six of the Counties the rate was over 10 per cent. The lowest rate in any County occurred in Clackmannan, viz., 2·8 per cent. ; and the highest in Peebles, viz., 14·0 per cent.

Of the 34,646 Births, 17,603 were of males, and 17,043 of females, being in the proportion of 103·3 males to every 100 females. 11,750 Births were registered during April, or 392 daily ; 11,769 during May, or 380 daily ; and 11,127 during June, or 371 daily.

rate was 168 ; in the Small Town Districts, 167 ; in the Mainland-Rural Districts, 160 ; and in the Insular-Rural Districts, 154.

In Dundee the mortality was at the annual rate of 217 per ten thousand persons ; in Glasgow, 209 ; in Edinburgh, 207 ; in Paisley, 204 ; in Greenock, 198 ; in Aberdeen, 185 ; in Leith, 182 ; and in Perth, 166.

Of the 20,029 Deaths, 10,102 were of males, and 9927 of females. 7485 Deaths were registered during April, or 250 daily ; 6794 during May, or 219 daily ; and 5750 during June, or 192 daily.

MARRIAGES.

8187 Marriages were registered during the quarter, being at the annual rate of 73 per ten thousand of the estimated population, or 0·73 per cent.

In the Principal Town Districts the Marriage-rate for every ten thousand of the estimated population was 89 ; in the Large Town Districts, 72 ; in the Small Town Districts, 67 ; in the Mainland-Rural Districts, 56 ; and in the Insular-Rural Districts, 21.

In Edinburgh Marriages were registered at the rate of 99 for every ten thousand persons ; in Glasgow the rate was 97 ; in Aberdeen, 93 ; in Dundee, 77 ; in Perth, 75 ; in Greenock, 73 ; in Leith, 70 ; and in Paisley, 69.

During April 85 Marriages were registered daily ; during May, 29 ; and during June, 158.

INCRÉASE OF POPULATION AND EMIGRATION.

The Births for the quarter having numbered 34,646, and the Deaths 20,029, the natural increase of the population not allowing for changes caused by emigration or immigration was 14,617. No statistics are available regarding the number of immigrants, but from Returns furnished by the Board of Trade it is found that the number of emigrants for the quarter was 88,042, of whom 26,382 were English, 4684 Scottish, 17,462 Irish, 38,439 Foreigners, and 1075 whose nationality was not distinguished but of whom it may be assumed that 58 were Scottish. Deducting 4684 + 58, the number of Scottish emigrants, from the number representing the excess of Births over Deaths, 9875 remains as the approximate increase of the population for the quarter.

DISEASES IN THE ABOVE PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Fully 36 per cent. of the population of Scotland being resident in these towns, it may be assumed that the mortality from various diseases observed in them will indicate with tolerable precision that which prevails in the country generally.

The total Deaths in these towns was 3216 during April, 2842 during May, and 2366 during June; and of these, 125 in April, 106 in May, and 82 in June, were from ill-defined and un-specified causes.

Miasmatic Diseases caused 428 Deaths in April, being at the annual rate of 3·14 per thousand of the estimated population; 344 in May, or 2·44 per thousand; and 307 in June, or 2·25 per thousand. Small-pox caused 26 Deaths in April, 6 in May, and 4 in June. From Measles there resulted 90 Deaths in April, or 0·66 per thousand; 75 in May, or 0·53 per thousand; and 90 in June, or 0·66 per thousand. To Scarlet Fever were attributed 18 Deaths in April and in May, or 0·13 per thousand; and 14 in June or 0·10 per thousand. To Hooping-Cough were ascribed 235 Deaths in April, or 1·73 per thousand; 200 in May, or 1·42 per thousand; and 160 in June or 1·18 per thousand. To Diphtheria were due 18 Deaths in April, or 0·13 per thousand; 17 in May and in June, or 0·12 per thousand. Fevers caused 16 Deaths in April, 9 in May, and 12 in June.

Diarrhoea and Dysentery caused 38 Deaths in April, or 0·28 per thousand; 55 in May, or 0·39; and 36 in June, or 0·26.

From Venereal Diseases there resulted 19 Deaths in April, 18 in May, and 14 in June.

To Intemperance were due 9 Deaths in April, and 10 in May and in June.

Constitutional Diseases caused 582 Deaths in April, 604 in May, and 475 in June; and of these, Cancer was the cause of 118 in April, 116 in May, and 123 in June; Phthisis of 278 in April, or 2·04 per thousand of the estimated population; 292 in May, or 2·08 per thousand; and 216 in June, or 1·59 per thousand.

To Developmental Diseases were ascribed 217 Deaths in April, 201 in May, and 164 in June.

From Diseases of the Nervous System there resulted 382 in April, 319 in May, and 251 in June.

Diseases affecting the Respiratory System caused 649 Deaths in April, 467 in May, and 386 in June; and of these, Croup was the cause of 2 in April, 4 in May, and 1 in June; Bronchitis of 284 in April, 167 in May, and 131 in June; and Pneumonia of 303 in April, of 256 in May, and of 213 in June.

To Diseases of the Organs of Digestion were attributed 197 Deaths in April, 208 in May, and 160 in June.

From Diseases of the Urinary System there resulted 85 Deaths in April, 77 in May, and 75 in June.

Parturition, or conditions in connection therewith (including Puerperal Fever), caused 19 Deaths in April, 23 in May, and 24 in June.

The Deaths from Violent Causes amounted to 116 in April, 106 in May, and 114 in June.

WEATHER.

The following remarks on the weather of the quarter are extracted from the Meteorological Returns which appear in the Registrar-General's Monthly Reports :—

April was characterised by a low mean barometric pressure, with a monthly range slightly above the average; a mean temperature half a degree above the average, with a mean daily range considerably above the average; a mean humidity, a little under the average; a mean rainfall rather above the average, falling on four days more than the average; and a large excess of south-westerly winds.

May was characterised by an unusually high mean barometric pressure, with a monthly range also largely above the average; a mean temperature 2°·4 above the average, with a mean daily range only thrice exceeded during the past forty years; a low humidity; a mean rainfall less than the average, falling on three days fewer than the average; and a very large excess of easterly winds of a force greatly under the average.

ture a little under the average, with a mean daily range considerably above it; a mean humidity greatly less than the average; a mean rainfall about the average, falling one day fewer than the average; and a considerable excess of southerly and westerly winds, blowing with a force much above the average.

The mean height of the barometric column, reduced to sea-level and 32° Fahr., was 29·737 inches in April, 30·125 inches in May, and 29·961 inches in June. The mean temperature for the quarter was 50°·0, being 0°·4 above the average mean temperature for the corresponding quarter of the last ten years. The mean temperature during April was 44°·7; during May, 51°·4; and during June, 53°·8. The absolute highest temperature was 76°·9 in April, 80°·0 in May, and 80°·3 in June; the absolute lowest temperature being 20°·8 in April, 27°·0 in May, and 32°·0 in June. Rain fell on 16 days in April, on 10 days in May, and on 14 days in June; the mean depth being 2·90 inches in April, 1·96 inches in May, and 2·90 inches in June. Easterly winds blew on 9 days in April, on 14 days in May, and on 5 days in June. Westerly winds blew on 13 days in April, on 8 days in May, and on 17 days in June. Northerly winds blew on 7 days in April, on 9 days in May, and on 8 days in June. Southerly winds blew on 12 days in April, on 8 days in May, and on 11 days in June.

N.B.—Districts containing Parliamentary and Royal Boroughs are printed in capitals, thus—EDINBURGH. Districts containing Towns of 2000 Inhabitants and upwards are printed in small capitals, thus—CAIRN RIVER. An asterisk, *, is prefixed to those Districts which have different names from the Parishes in which they are situated, or which comprise more, or parts of more than one Parish. The component parts of these Districts will be found on page 45. † is prefixed to those Districts which consist of only a part of the Civil Parish of the same name.

FOR THE MONTHS OF

APRIL, MAY, JUNE,

1901.

DIAGRAM

of the

SCOTTISH METEOROLOGICAL SOCIETY.

Reported to the Registrar General of Scotland.

NOTES ON THE NUMERICAL RETURNS OF SCOTTISH METEOROLOGY;
FOR THE QUARTER ENDING 30th JUNE 1901.

By Dr BUCHAN, under the Direction of the Council of the Scottish Meteorological Society.

THESE returns are founded on the observations made, morning and evening, at 65 of the Stations of the Scottish Meteorological Society, and have been prepared from the Observers' separate schedules.

From the individual results for each station, the following collective results have been obtained, assuming them to have been equally well observed, and to represent the whole country :—

And when these results are compared with the averages of 1856–1900, during the same months, they show the following characteristics and differences :—

APRIL 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, 29.737 inches ; less than the average of 1856–1900 by 0.151 inch.

Monthly Range, 1.269 inch ; greater by 0.066 inch.

Mean Temperature, 44°7 ; greater by 0°5.

Mean Daily Range, 16°6 ; greater by 2°1.

Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, 86°2 ; greater by 10°2.

Do. at Night, 32°4 ; less by 0°3.

Mean Humidity, 79 ; less by 2.9.

Rain, Number of Days, 16 ; greater by 3 days.

Rain, Depth in Inches, 2.90 ; greater by 0.68 inch.

Wind, Pressure on Square Foot, 1.72 lb. ; less by 0.09 lb.

Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 7 to 9, and N. to S. as 5 to 8 ; in place of E. to W. as 8 to 8, and N. to S. as 6 to 6.

Hours of Sunshine, 160 ; greater by 5 hours.

Mean Amount of Cloud, 5.8 ; less by 0.44.

MAY 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, 29.125 inches; greater than the average of 1856-1900 by 0.185 inch.

Monthly Range, 1.349 inch; greater by 0.261 inch.

Mean Temperature, 51°.4; greater by 2°.4.

Mean Daily Range, 20°.0; greater by 4°.5.

Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, 90°.5; greater by 6°.3.

Do. at Night, 37°.5; greater by 1°.3.

Mean Humidity, 78; less by 1.8.

Rain, Number of Days, 10; less by 3 days.

Rain, Depth in Inches, 1.96; less by 0.33 inch.

Wind, Pressure on Square Foot, 1.11 lb.; less by 0.46 lb.

Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 11 to 6, and N. to S. as 6 to 6; in place of E. to W. as 8 to 8, and N. to S. as 6 to 8.

Hours of Sunshine, 226; greater by 40 hours.

Mean Amount of Cloud, 5.3; less 0.90.

JUNE 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, 29.961 inches; greater than the average of 1856-1900 by 0.019 inch.

Monthly Range, 1.089 inch; greater by 0.139 inch.

Mean Temperature, 53°.8; less by 1°.1.

Mean Daily Range, 16°.6; greater by 0°.8.

Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, 100°.0; greater by 7°.9.

Do. at Night, 41°.4; less by 0°.7.

Mean Humidity, 76; less by 4°.3.

Rain, Number of Days, 14; greater by 1 day.

Rain, Depth in Inches, 2.90; greater by 0.32 inch.

Wind, Pressure on Square Foot, 2.05 lbs.; greater by 0.63 lb.

Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 4 to 13, and N. to S. as 6 to 8; in place of E. to W. as 7 to 10, and N. to S. as 5 to 7.

Hours of Sunshine, 175; less by 14 hours.

Mean Amount of Cloud, 6.4; greater by 0.22.

Hence the weather of APRIL 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure considerably under the average, with a monthly range a little above it; a mean temperature half a degree above the average, with a mean daily range much above it; a very low mean humidity; a mean rainfall, seven-tenths of an inch above the average, falling on 3 days more than the average; and a three days' excess of south-westerly winds, blowing with a force very little above the average.

The mean barometric pressure was 29.737 inches, or 0.151 inch under the average, being the lowest mean pressure that has occurred since 1856, except in 1867, when it was only 29.591 inches. The diminution of pressure was greater in the north and west than in the south and east, resulting in an increase of winds from the south-west.

The mean temperature was 44°.7, or half a degree above the average, the days being 1°.6 above it, but the nights 0°.5 below it. Thus the higher temperature of the month was wholly caused by the relatively high temperature of the days, due to the great dryness of the air and the strong sunshine which prevailed. Over a rather broad band extending from the Grampians to the Firth of Tay and westwards to Loch Linnhe, temperature was under the average, the diminution being half a degree at Aberdeen, Lednathie, Montrose, Arbroath, Perth, Stronvar, and Airds. Elsewhere over Scotland temperature exceeded the average of the month, the excess being a degree in the Southern Highlands, along the south shore of the Moray Firth, and about two degrees in Shetland. The absolutely highest temperature was 76°.9 on the 21st at Glasgow, and the lowest 20°.8 on the 5th at Tillyprunie.

The mean rainfall was 2.90 inches, or 31 per cent. above the average. The distribution of this rainfall over the country was very unequal, being under the average between the Firth of Forth and the Tweed, and in the counties of Aberdeen, Banff, Elgin, Nairn, Ross, and the northern half of Inverness. The greatest deficiency in the south-east was 42 per cent. at Smeaton, whereas in Inverness-shire the deficiency at several places was 50 per cent. In all other parts of Scotland the rainfall was above the average, the greatest excess, in many cases more than 50 per cent., being in the counties of Shetland, Orkney, Caithness, Argyll, Lower Strathclyde, and Galloway. The greatest excesses were, in percentages, 100 at Bressay, 80 at Wick and Campbellton, 76 at Glenlee, and 65 at Wolfelce. Nearly the whole fell from the 1st to the 18th, and from the 27th to the 29th. Very heavy rainfalls occurred on the 2nd and 3rd, amounting on the 2nd to 2.76 inches at Stronvar, 2·45 inches at Glenlee, 2·35 inches at Greenock, and 2·26 inches at Lednathie; on the 3rd, 2·04 inches at Ochertyre, and on the same days upwards of an inch fell at numerous stations. Snow and hail were of occasional occurrence during the first half of the month; and thunder on the 9th and 10th.

Thus the weather of MAY 1901 was characterised by an unusually high mean barometric pressure, with a very large monthly range; a mean temperature much above the average, with a mean daily range greater than any hitherto recorded in May during the past 46 years; a mean humidity under the average; a mean rainfall less than the average, falling on 3 days fewer than the average; an excess of easterly winds, blowing with a force much under the average.

The mean barometric pressure was 30·125 inches, or 0·185 inch above the average. This high pressure has been only twice exceeded since 1856, viz., in 1876 and 1896, when it was 30·158 inches and 30·260 inches respectively. The excess was greater in the north than in the south, being 0·240 inch at North Uist, but only 0·175 inch in Berwickshire, thus forming lower barometric gradients, resulting in a diminished wind force.

The mean temperature was 51°·4, or 2°·4 above the average, the days being 4°·7, but the nights only 0°·2 above the average. Thus the high temperature was wholly due to the greater heat of the days, the general type of weather being anticyclonic, with the accompanying clear skies, dry air, and strong sunshine. The increase was greatest in the west, where at many places it was 4°·0, and least in the east, where at a number of places from Kinnaird Head to the Tweed it was less than a degree. The absolutely highest temperature was 80°·0 on the 25th at Poltalloch, and the lowest 27°·0 on the 14th at Wolfelee.

The mean rainfall was 1·96 inches, or 14 per cent. under the average. It was above the average in parts of the counties of Dumfries, Peebles, Berwick, Perth, Forfar, Aberdeen, Ross, and Sutherland, but the excess in all cases was small. In all other districts the rainfall was under the average, the largest deficiency being at the more western stations, being at a number of stations more than 70 per cent., and upwards of 50 per cent. over extensive breadths. Nearly the whole rain fell from the 5th to the 11th, and from the 26th to the end of the month. The rest of the month was exceptionally dry and rainless.

Thus the weather of JUNE 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure a little above the average, with a monthly range much above it; a mean temperature, fully a degree under the average, with a mean daily range a little above it; a mean humidity very low, indeed no lower mean humidity for June has been hitherto recorded; a mean rainfall a little over the average, falling 1 day more than the average; and 5 days of excess of winds from N., NW., W., and S., blowing with a force much above the average.

The mean barometric pressure was 29·961 inches, or 0·019 inch above the average. The geographical distribution of pressure was peculiar. Thus in Shetland it was 0·050 inch under the average; at Cape Wrath, Inverness, and Gordon Castle it was the average; from which it increased on advancing southwards, till in Galloway it was 0·055 inch above the average. Also everywhere it was relatively much higher in the west than in the east. From this it followed that as pressure diminished more rapidly from south to north than usual, steeper barometric gradients were formed, and the force of the wind much exceeded the average; and as pressure was greater in the west than in the east, winds from N., NW., and W. prevailed 4 days more than the average, accompanied with lowered temperature and a drier atmosphere.

The mean temperature was 53°·8, or 1°·1 less than the average, the days being 0°·7 and the nights 1°·5 colder than the average. Temperature was nearly half a degree above the average from Bell Rock to the Tweed at coast stations. In all other parts of the country it was under the average, the greatest depression, about 2°·0, being in strictly inland situations in the counties of Inverness and Aberdeen in the north, and Ayrshire and Galloway in the south. The absolutely highest temperature was 80°·3 on the 8th at Loanhead, and the lowest 33°·5 on the 17th at Leadhills.

The mean rainfall was 2·90 inches, or 12 per cent. above the average. The rainfall was below the average to the east of a line passing from Peterhead through Logie Coldstone, Lednathie, Dollar, N. Esk Reservoir, and Wolfelee; and also on the west coast from Turnberry to Corsewall, but in nearly every case the deficiency was small. Over all other parts of Scotland the rainfall exceeded the average. The greatest excess occurred in Orkney and Caithness, where at several places double the average was collected. In Strathspey the excess was from 50 to 78 per cent., and the same excess was reported from Easter Galloway. Little rain fell from the 6th to the 9th, 14th to the 16th, and from the 25th to the end of the month.

REGISTRARS' NOTES.

IN compliance with the following Instructions, many of the Registrars have appended remarks to their Returns, from which the subjoined Notes have been selected. The Registrars alone must be considered responsible for the opinions which they express.

INSTRUCTIONS TO REGISTRARS.

“If, at any time, the Births (whether legitimate or illegitimate), the Deaths, or the Marriages registered during the Quarter have been above or below the average, here state what you consider to be the cause, and whether epidemics, such as Measles, Typhus, Cholera, etc., have prevailed in the District; or if there is any other fact in the character of the Weather, Sanitary or Social Arrangements, Movement of the Population, etc., which will account for the circumstance.”

The Figures refer to the Numbers of the Districts in the preceding Tables.

I. NORTHERN DIVISION.

2. ORKNEY.

15. EDAY AND PHARAY.—Of the five deaths registered, four were of persons aged 91, 89, 87, and 76 years.

* The actual number of Districts is 1072—many Parishes and Burghs having been divided into two or more Districts for the purpose of Registration. Thus Edinburgh and Glasgow, to each of which only a single number is assigned in the Tables, consist of 6 and 14 Districts respectively. In forming the alphabetical arrangement the principle adopted has been to place compound names in the order in which they are pronounced.

BIRTHS.

The birth-rate for the quarter was at the annual rate of 297 for every ten thousand of the estimated population, or 2·97 per cent.
Wt. 17097.

In the Principal Town Districts the birth-rate for every ten thousand persons was 307 ; in the Large Town Districts, 321 ; in the Small Town Districts, 305 ; in the Mainland-Rural Districts, 263 ; and in the Insular-Rural Districts, 228.

The Birth-rate in Glasgow for every ten thousand persons was 324 ; in Greenock, 315 ; in Leith, 310 ; in Aberdeen, 306 ; in Paisley, 289 ; in Dundee, 286 ; in Edinburgh, 253 ; and in Perth, 219.

Of the 33,565 Births, 2088, or 6·2 per cent., were illegitimate. In the Mainland-Rural Districts, the illegitimate births constituted 8·0 per cent. of the total ; in the Principal Town Districts, 6·4 ; in the Insular-Rural Districts, 6·1 ; in the Small Town Districts, 5·7 ; and in the Large Town Districts, 4·2 per cent.

A comparative statement of the rate of illegitimacy in the Divisions and Counties of Scotland will be found in Tables I. and II. Table I. shows that, as usual, the rate was highest in the North-Eastern and Southern Divisions, and Table II. that in six of the Counties the rate exceeded 10 per cent. The lowest rate in any County occurred in Ross and Cromarty, viz., 2·7 per cent. ; and the highest in Wigtown, viz., 13·4 per cent.

Of the 33,565 Births, 17,354 were of males, and 16,211 of females, being in the proportion of 107·1 males to every 100 females. 11,950 Births were registered during July, or 385 daily ; 10,944 during August, or 353 daily ; and 10,671 during September, or 356 daily.

The mortality in Greenock for the quarter was at the rate of 201 per ten thousand persons; in Dundee it was 193; in Glasgow, 188; in Leith, 183; in Edinburgh, 172; in Paisley, 169; in Perth, 161; and in Aberdeen, 158.

Of the 18,758 Deaths, 9526 were of males, and 9232 of females. 6505 Deaths were registered during July, being at the rate of 210 daily; 6529 during August, or 211 daily; and 5724 during September, or 191 daily.

MARRIAGES.

8257 Marriages were registered in Scotland during the quarter, being at the annual rate of 73 per ten thousand of the estimated population, or 0·73 per cent.

In the Principal Town Districts Marriages occurred at the rate of 96 per ten thousand persons; in the Large Town Districts at the rate of 81; in the Small Town Districts at the rate of 63; in the Mainland-Rural Districts at the rate of 39; and in the Insular-Rural Districts at the rate of 21.

In Edinburgh Marriages were recorded at the rate of 108 for every ten thousand of the population; in Glasgow the rate was 104; in Aberdeen, 95; in Paisley, 93; in Greenock, 92; in Dundee and in Perth, 82; and in Leith, 67.

4080 Marriages were registered during July, or 132 daily; 1896 during August, or 61 daily; and 2281 during September, or 76 daily.

INCREASE OF POPULATION AND EMIGRATION.

The Births for the quarter having amounted to 33,565, and the Deaths to 18,758, the natural increase of population not allowing for changes caused by emigration and immigration was 14,807. No satisfactory estimate of the number of immigrants can be formed, but, with regard to emigrants, it is found from Returns furnished by the Board of Trade that the number of these for the quarter was 100,201, of whom 38,440 were English, 9273 Scottish, 11,835 Irish, 38,754 Foreigners, and 1899 whose nationality was not distinguished but of whom it may be assumed that 179 were Scottish. Deducting 9273 + 179, the number of Scottish emigrants, from the number representing the excess of Births over Deaths, the remainder, 5355, may be taken as the approximate increase of the population for the quarter.

DISEASES IN THE ABOVE PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

As these Towns contain fully 36 per cent. of the population of Scotland, it is believed that the mortality from various diseases found in them will give a fairly accurate indication of that which prevails throughout the country.

The total Deaths in these towns was 2682 during July, 2594 during August, and 2299 during September; and of these, 120 in July, 135 in August, and 118 in September, were from vaguely defined or unspecified causes.

Miasmatic Diseases caused 254 Deaths in July, being at the rate of 1.81 per thousand of the estimated population; 175 in August, or 1.24 per thousand; and 143 in September, or 1.05 per thousand. To Measles were attributed 94 Deaths in July, or 0.67 per thousand; 57 in August, or 0.41 per thousand; and 36 in September, or 0.26 per thousand. From Scarlet Fever there resulted 28 Deaths in July, or 0.20 per thousand, 10 in August, or 0.07 per thousand, and 15 in September, or 0.11 per thousand. From Diphtheria were recorded 8 Deaths during July, 9 during August, and 11 during September. Hooping-Cough caused 99 Deaths in July, or 0.70 per thousand; 61 in August, or 0.43 per thousand; and 44 in September, or 0.32 per thousand. To Fevers were ascribed 16 Deaths in July, or 0.11 per thousand; 32 in August, or 0.23 per thousand; and 31 in September, or 0.23 per thousand.

Diarrhoea and Dysentery caused 165 Deaths during July, or 1.17 per thousand; 281 during August, or 2.00 per thousand; and 154 during September, or 1.13 per thousand.

From Venereal Diseases there resulted 11 Deaths in July, 10 in August, and 21 in September.

To Intemperance were due 14 Deaths in July, 16 in August, and 11 in September.

Constitutional Diseases caused 545 Deaths in July, 491 in August, and 440 in September; and of these, Cancer caused 131 in July, 129 in August, and 118 in September; and Phthisis, 229 in July, 215 in August, and 202 in September, being at the rate of 1·62, 1·53, and 1·48 per thousand of population in these months respectively.

To Developmental Diseases were attributed 194 Deaths in July, 167 in August, and 159 in September.

To Diseases of the Nervous System were ascribed 300 deaths in July, 299 in August, and 255 in September.

Diseases of the Respiratory System caused 340 Deaths in July, 219 in August, and 329 in September; of which Croup was the cause of one in July, of 3 in August, and of 3 in September; Bronchitis of 135 in July, of 73 in August, and of 130 in September; and Pneumonia of 180 in July, 121 in August, and 166 in September.

To Diseases of the Digestive Organs were ascribed 223 Deaths in July, 333 in August (this increase in August being due to the prevalence of Enteritis), and 220 in September.

From Diseases of the Urinary System there resulted 84 Deaths in July, 73 in August, and 61 in September.

Parturition, or morbid conditions in connection therewith (including Puerperal Fever), caused 20 Deaths in July, 13 in August, and 22 in September.

To Violent Causes were due 115 Deaths in July, 105 in August, and 94 in September.

WEATHER.

The following remarks on the weather of the quarter are extracted from the Meteorological Returns which appear in the Registrar-General's Monthly Reports:—

July was characterised by a mean barometric pressure greatly above the average, with an exceedingly low monthly range, the only lower monthly range since 1856 being 0·512 inch in 1872; a mean temperature higher than any previously recorded for July, accompanied with a mean daily range considerably above the average; an average mean humidity; a mean rainfall, very greatly under the average, falling four days fewer than the average; a four days' excess of S.-E. and N.-E. winds, and a deficiency of four days of W., S., and E. winds.

September was characterised by a mean barometric pressure nearly the average, with a monthly range rather less than the average; a mean temperature very much above the average, having been exceeded only in five years since 1856; a mean daily range of temperature nearly a degree less than the average; a low mean humidity; a mean rainfall, one-third less than the average, falling two days fewer than the average; and an unprecedentedly large excess of easterly and southerly winds, blowing with a force considerably above the average.

The mean height of the barometric column, reduced to sea-level and 32° Fahr., was 30·021 inches in July, 29·920 inches in August, and 29·860 inches in September. The mean temperature for the quarter was 58°·0, being 2°·2 above the average mean temperature for the same quarter of the last ten years. The mean temperature during July was 61°·8; during August, 57°·5; and during September, 54°·8. The absolute highest temperature was 91°·0 in July, 82°·0 in August, and 75°·4 in September; the absolute lowest temperature being 37°·0 in July, 35°·0 in August, and 29°·5 in September. Rain fell on 10 days in July, on 16 days in August, and on 15 days in September; the mean depth being 1·85 inches in July, 4·18 inches in August, and 2·46 inches in September. Easterly winds blew on 10 days in July, on 5 days in August, and on 12 days in September. Westerly winds blew on 13 days in July, on 18 days in August, and on 8 days in September. Northerly winds blew on 7 days in July, on 7 days in August, and on 5 days in September. Southerly winds blew on 11 days in July, on 12 days in August, and on 14 days in September.

M. B.—Districts containing Parliamentary and Royal Burghs are printed in capitals, thus—EDINBURGH. Districts containing Towns of 2000 Inhabitants and upwards are printed in small capitals, thus—CAMLUKE. An asterisk “*” is prefixed to those Districts which have different names from the Parishes in which they are situated, or which comprise more, or parts of more than one Parish. The component parts of the Parishes will be found on page 45.
† Return not received. The numbers given are those for the Districts.

METEOROLOGICAL REPORT

FOR THE MONTHS OF

JULY, AUGUST, SEPTEMBER,

1901.

DIAGRAM

of the

SCOTTISH METEOROLOGICAL SOCIETY.

Reported to the Registrar General of Scotland.

NOTES ON THE NUMERICAL RETURNS OF SCOTTISH METEOROLOGY
FOR THE QUARTER ENDING 30th SEPTEMBER 1901.

By Dr BUCHAN, under the Direction of the Council of the Scottish Meteorological Society.

THESE returns are founded on the observations made, morning and evening, at 65 of the Stations of the Scottish Meteorological Society, and have been prepared from the Observers' separate schedules.

From the individual results for each station, the following collective results have been obtained, assuming them to have been equally well observed, and to represent the whole country :—

 Mean Amount of Cloud, 6·7; greater by 0·4.

JULY 1901—

Hence the weather of JULY 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure much above the average, with a monthly range lower than any hitherto recorded for July, except July 1873 when it was only 0·517 inch; a mean temperature unprecedentedly high, being indeed nearly two degrees higher than that of any other summer month since the Society was founded in 1855, accompanied with an exceedingly large mean daily range of temperature; a mean humidity under the average; a mean rainfall considerably under the average, and falling on five days fewer than the average; and three days' excess of easterly winds with a force under the average.

The mean barometric pressure was 30·021 inches, or 0·135 inch above the average. The excess was alike in the east and the west in the same latitudes; but it was considerably greater in the north than in the south, thus lowering the normal barometric gradient from south to north, resulting in a reduced force of wind. No storms of wind occurred during the month.

The mean temperature was 61°·8, or 4°·6 above the average, the days being 5°·7 and the nights 3°·4 in excess. This is a 'record' mean temperature for the month, the highest previously being 60°·4 in 1868. This temperature has, since 1764, been only once exceeded, viz., in July 1779, the mean temperature of this month being 65°·7. The excess was greater in the south than in the north, and in inland situations than near the coast. The type of weather was eminently anticyclonic, with much strong sunshine; and from the 14th to the 27th thunderstorms were of frequent occurrence. The absolutely highest temperature was 91°·0 on the 20th at Dumfries, and the lowest 37°·0 on the 22nd at Glencarron.

The mean rainfall was 1·85 inch, or 41 per cent. under the average. At the stations near the sea from Dunrobin to the mouth of the Spey, the rainfall was above the average, the greatest excess being 52 per cent. at Gordon Castle, the large excess there being due to the heavy rainfall on the 25th and 26th, on which two days there fell 3·41 inches. In every other part of Scotland the rainfall of July was under the average, the greatest deficiency being south of a line drawn from Aberdeen to Monach. In Galloway generally the amount collected was only about a fourth of the average. A marked feature of the meteorology of the month was the frequency of wide-spread fogs on the coasts from the 3rd to the 11th and the 19th to the 30th.

Hence the weather of AUGUST 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure a little above the average, with a monthly range considerably above it; a mean temperature a degree above the average, with a mean daily range also a degree above the average; a rather low mean humidity; a mean rainfall, fully half an inch above the average, falling on the average number of days; and four days' excess of westerly winds, with a force rather above the average.

The mean barometric pressure was 29·920 inches, or 0·062 inch above the average, the excess being very much greater in the south than in the north, resulting in an excess of westerly winds, with an excess of the usual force of the winds of August.

The mean temperature was 57°·5, or 0°·9 above the average, the days being 1°·4, and the nights 0°·3 above their averages. Over the whole of the eastern slope of Scotland, and also in Galloway, Lanarkshire, Dumbartonshire, Orkney, and Shetland, the mean temperature was above the average, the greatest excess, about two degrees, being in inland districts from Inverness to Edinburgh. On the other hand, in strictly western situations from Cape Wrath, temperature was about half a degree under the average, owing to the increased prevalence of winds from the west, taken in connection with the anticyclonic type of weather which generally prevailed. The absolutely highest temperature was 82°·0 on the 1st at Smeaton and on the 8th at Inverness; and the lowest 35°·0 on the 17th at Kingussie.

The mean rainfall was 4·18 inches, or 15 per cent. above the average. A marked feature of the meteorology of the month was the number of thunderstorms which occurred, and as these were accompanied with heavy downfalls of rain over very restricted areas, the distribution of the rainfall of the month was extremely irregular over the country. Most rain fell in Shetland, Orkney, and to the south of the Grampians, but more particularly in the west from Ardnamurchan to the Solway, the excess at several places being from 50 to 100 per cent. On the other hand, to north of the Grampians and east of the Caledonian Canal, and in the counties of Kincardine, Ross, and Sutherland, the rainfall was deficient, the deficiency being generally about a fourth of the average. The weather was stormy from the 26th to the 29th.

SEPTEMBER 1901—

Hence the weather of SEPTEMBER 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure slightly above the average, and a monthly range slightly under it; a mean temperature considerably above the average, with a mean daily range slightly under it; a mean humidity considerably under the average; a mean rainfall fully an inch under the average, falling on 1 day less than the average; a 7 days' excess of wind from the S.E.

The mean barometric pressure was 29·860 inches, or 0·017 inch above the average. Its geographical distribution was very peculiar, being above the average to north-east of a line drawn from the Butt of Lewis to near Kelso, the excess above the average being greatest in Shetland, Orkney, and Aberdeenshire; but to the south-west of this line pressure was under the average, the greatest deficiency being from Monach to Campbelton. In Shetland the excess was 0·080 inch, and the deficiency was 0·050 inch at Monach, Skerryvore, and Campbelton. This difference in the distribution of the pressure resulted in the unwonted prevalence of south-easterly winds, bearing in their train a high temperature and a greatly reduced rainfall.

The mean temperature was 54°·8, or 2°·0 above the average, the increase of the days being 1°·8 and the nights 2°·2. The least excess of temperature was on the east coast, which, owing to the prevalence of south-easterly winds, gradually increased, on advancing towards the north-west, from a degree and a half at Aberdeen to three degrees at Fort Augustus. The absolutely highest temperature was 75°·4 on the 10th at Loanhead, and the lowest 29°·5 on the 16th at Braemar.

The mean rainfall was 2·46 inches, or 30 per cent. under the average. In Galloway and the extreme south-west of Argyll, the rainfall was a little above the average; but in all other parts of the country it was under the average, the general deficiency being about half the average. It fell chiefly from the 6th to the 10th, 17th to the 20th, and 25th to the end of the month. On the 19th, 27th, and 28th, there were heavy rainfalls at several of the stations,

REGISTRARS' NOTES.

IN compliance with the following Instructions, many of the Registrars have appended remarks to their Returns, from which the subjoined Notes have been selected. The Registrars alone must be considered responsible for the opinions which they express.

INSTRUCTIONS TO REGISTRARS.

"If, at any time, the Births (whether legitimate or illegitimate), the Deaths, or the Marriages registered during the Quarter have been above or below the average, here state what you consider to be the cause, and whether epidemics, such as Measles, Typhus, Cholera, etc., have prevailed in the District; or if there is any other fact in the character of the Weather, Sanitary or Social Arrangements, Movement of the Population, etc., which will account for the circumstance."

The Figures refer to the Numbers of the Districts in the preceding Tables.

I. NORTHERN DIVISION.

2. ORKNEY.

26. SANDAY.—One death was caused by Typhoid Fever.

* The actual number of Districts is 1072—many Parishes and Burghs having been divided into two or more Districts for the purpose of Registration. Thus Edinburgh and Glasgow, to each of which only a single number is assigned in the Tables, consist of 6 and 14 Districts respectively. In forming the alphabetical arrangement the principle adopted has been to place compound names in the order in which they are pronounced.

BIRTHS.

31,905 Births were registered in Scotland during the quarter, giving an annual Birth-rate of 282 per ten thousand of estimated population, or 2·82 per cent. Wt. 28247.

In the Principal Town Districts the Birth-rate was 287 per ten thousand persons; in the Large Town Districts, 311; in the Small Town Districts, 294; in the Mainland-Rural Districts, 249; and in the Insular-Rural Districts, 242.

In Leith the Birth-rate per ten thousand persons was 321; in Aberdeen, 307; in Glasgow, 289; in Paisley, 281; in Greenock, 276; in Dundee, 274; in Edinburgh, 241; and in Perth, 221.

Of the 31,905 Births, 1944 were illegitimate, being at the rate of 6·1 per cent. In the Insular-Rural Districts, 4·4 per cent. of the Births were illegitimate; in the Large Town Districts, 5·0; in the Small Town Districts, 5·4; in the Principal Town Districts, 6·0; and in the Mainland-Rural Districts, 8·1 per cent.

A comparative statement of the rate of illegitimacy in the Divisions and Counties of Scotland is given in Tables I. and II. Table I. shows that the highest rate occurred in the North-Eastern and Southern Divisions, and Table II. that in seven of the Counties the rate of illegitimacy was over 10 per cent. The lowest rate in any County occurred in Shetland, viz., 1·6 per cent., and the highest in Wigtown, viz., 15·8 per cent.

Of the 31,905 Births, 16,337 were of males, and 15,568 of females, being in the proportion of 104·9 of the former to every 100 of the latter. 11,224 Births were registered during October, being at the rate of 362 daily; 10,228 during November, or 341 daily; and 10,453 during December, or 337 daily.

In Glasgow the Death-rate was 214 per ten thousand of population; in Dundee, 212; in Aberdeen and in Greenock, 198; in Perth, 188; in Edinburgh, 185; in Leith, 170; and in Paisley, 169.

Of the 19,973 Deaths, 10,030 were of males, and 9943 of females. 5828 were registered during October, or 188 daily; 6746 during November, or 225 daily; and 7399 during December, or 239 daily.

MARRIAGES.

7978 Marriages were registered in Scotland during the quarter, being at the rate of 71 for every ten thousand persons, or 0·71 per cent.

In the Principal Town Districts the Marriage-rate was 84 per ten thousand of estimated population; in the Large Town Districts, 65; in the Small Town Districts, 63; in the Mainland-Rural Districts, 57; and in the Insular-Rural Districts, 53.

The Marriage-rate in Aberdeen was 95 per ten thousand persons; in Perth, 94; in Edinburgh, 92; in Glasgow, 88; in Leith, 79; in Dundee, 76; in Greenock, 71; and in Paisley, 70.

1916 Marriages were registered during October, or 62 daily; 2008 during November, or 67 daily; and 4066 during December, or 131 daily.

INCREASE OF POPULATION AND EMIGRATION.

The Births for the quarter having numbered 31,905, and the Deaths 19,973, the natural increase of population not allowing for changes caused by emigration and immigration was 11,932. No statistics are available regarding the number of immigrants, but from Returns furnished by the Board of Trade it is found that the number of emigrants for the quarter was 66,878, of whom 28,264 were English, 4555 Scottish, 6409 Irish, 25,530 Foreign, and 2120 whose nationality was not distinguished, but of whom it may be assumed that 149 were Scottish. Deducting 4555 + 149, the number of Scottish emigrants, from the number representing the excess of Births over Deaths, 7228 remains as the probable increase of population during the quarter.

DISEASES IN THE ABOVE PRINCIPAL TOWNS.

Of the whole population of Scotland, fully 36 per cent. is resident in these towns, and it may therefore be assumed that the rates of mortality from various diseases observed in them will indicate with considerable accuracy that which prevails in the country at large.

The total Deaths in these towns was 2456 in October, 2869 in November, and 3074 in December, and of these, 113 in October, 120 in November, and 127 in December, were from ill-defined and unspecified causes.

Miasmatic Diseases caused 206 Deaths in October, or 1·46 per thousand of estimated population; 257 in November, or 1·88 per thousand; and 286 in December, or 2·03 per thousand.

Measles caused 56 Deaths in October, or 0·40 per thousand; 102 in November, or 0·75 per thousand; and 136 in December, or 0·97 per thousand. To Scarlet Fever were attributed 25 Deaths in October and in November, being at the rate of 0·18 per thousand in these months respectively; and 24 in December, or 0·17 per thousand. From Hooping Cough there resulted 36 Deaths in October, or 0·26 per thousand; 32 in November, or 0·24 per thousand; and 39 in December, or 0·28 per thousand. To Diphtheria were ascribed 36 Deaths in October, or 0·26 per thousand; 31 in November, or 0·23 per thousand; and 21 in December, or 0·15 per thousand. Fevers caused 40 Deaths in October, or 0·28 per thousand; 48 in November, or 0·35 per thousand; and 37 in December, or 0·26 per thousand. One death in Glasgow in October was attributed to Plague.

Diarrhoea and Dysentery caused 64 Deaths in October, being at the rate of 0·45 per thousand; 54 in November, at the rate of 0·40; and 47 in December, a rate of 0·33.

Venereal Diseases caused 14 Deaths in October, 9 in November, and 10 in December.

From Intemperance there resulted 13 Deaths in October, 14 in November, and 19 in December.

Constitutional Diseases caused 479 Deaths in October, 506 in November, and 505 in December. Of these, Cancer caused 120 in October, 107 in November, and 113 in December; and Phthisis, 206 in October, 267 in November, and 237 in December, being at the rate of 1·46, 1·95, and 1·68 per thousand in these months respectively.

To Developmental Diseases were ascribed 157 Deaths in October, 170 in November, and 220 in December.

To Diseases of the Nervous System were attributed 279 Deaths in October, 296 in November, and 325 in December.

Diseases affecting the Respiratory Organs caused 457 Deaths in October, 749 in November, and 776 in December; and of these Croup was the cause of one in October, of 5 in November, and of 3 in December; Bronchitis of 208 in October, of 325 in November, and of 377 in December; and Pneumonia of 212 in October, of 346 in November, and of 324 in December.

To Diseases of the Organs of Digestion were attributed 216 Deaths in October, 195 in November, and 175 in December.

From Diseases of the Urinary System there resulted 72 Deaths in October, 84 in November, and 80 in December.

Diseases incidental to Parturition (including Puerperal Fever) caused 19 Deaths in October, 21 in November, and 15 in December.

The Deaths from Violent Causes numbered 99 in October, 112 in November, and 143 in December.

WEATHER.

The following remarks on the weather of the quarter are extracted from the Meteorological Returns which appear in the Registrar-General's Monthly Reports:—

October was characterised by a mean barometric pressure and a monthly range both very near the average; a mean temperature slightly above the average, with a mean daily range a good deal above it; an average mean humidity; a mean rainfall, half an inch under the average, falling three days more than the average; a three days' excess of southerly winds blowing with the average force of the month.

November was characterised by a very high mean barometric pressure, with a monthly range considerably under the average; a mean temperature slightly above the average, with a mean daily range a little above the average; an average mean humidity; a rainfall, a little less than the average, falling on four days less than the average number ; a mean wind force appreciably above the average, with four days' excess of westerly winds.

December was characterised by an unusually low mean barometric pressure, with a monthly range a little above the average ; a rather low mean temperature, with a mean daily range a degree less than the average ; an average mean humidity ; a mean rainfall, also the average, but falling on two days more than the average, with average winds as regards direction, but blowing with a force considerably above the average.

The mean height of the barometric column, reduced to sea-level and 32° Fahr., was 29·866 inches in October, 30·072 inches in November, and 29·478 inches in December. The mean temperature for the quarter was 41°·3, being 1°·0 below the average mean temperature for the quarter during the last ten years. The mean temperature during October was 46°·3 ; during November 41°·1 ; and during December, 36°·4. The absolutely highest temperature was 69°·3 in October, 60°·0 in November, and 58°·0 in December ; the absolutely lowest temperature was 23°·3 in October, 6°·0 in November, and 9°·5 in December. Rain fell on 20 days in October, on 14 days in November, and on 21 days in December ; the mean depth being 4·19 inches in October, 3·56 inches in November, and 4·74 inches in December. Easterly winds blew on 7 days in October, on 6 days in November, and on 7 days in December. Westerly winds blew on 14 days in October, on 16 days in November, and on 17 days in December. Northerly winds blew on 6 days in October, on 10 days in November, and on 11 days in December. Southerly winds blew on 13 days in October, on 7 days in November, and on 9 days in December.

METEOROLOGICAL REPORT

FOR THE MONTHS OF

OCTOBER, NOVEMBER, DECEMBER

1901.

DIAGRAM

of the

SCOTTISH METEOROLOGICAL SOCIETY.

Reported to the Registrar General of Scotland.

NOTES ON THE NUMERICAL RETURNS OF SCOTTISH METEOROLOGY
FOR THE QUARTER ENDING 31st DECEMBER 1901.

By Dr BUCHAN, under the Direction of the Council of the Scottish Meteorological Society.

THESE returns are founded on the observations made, morning and evening, at 65 of the Stations of the Scottish Meteorological Society, and have been prepared from the Observers' separate schedules.

From the individual results for each station, the following collective results have been obtained, assuming them to have been equally well observed, and to represent the whole country :—

And when these results are compared with the averages of 1856–1900, during the same months, they show the following characteristics and differences :—

OCTOBER 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, 29·866 inches ; greater than the average of 1856–1900 by 0·054 inch.

Monthly Range, 1·411 inch ; less by 0·060 inch.

Mean Temperature, 46°·3 ; less by 0°·2.

Mean Daily Range of Temperature, 13°·6 ; greater by 1°·6.

Mean Humidity, 87 ; less by 0·3.

Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, 74°·4 ; greater by 4°·9.

Do. at Night, 35°·5 ; greater by 0°·3.

Rain, Number of Days, 20 ; greater by 3 days.

Rain, Depth in Inches, 4·19 ; greater by 0·15 inch.

Wind, Pressure on Square Foot, 1·67 lb. ; less by 0·28 lb.

Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 5 to 10, and N. to S. as 4 to 9 ; in place of E. to W. as 5 to 10, and N. to S. as 5 to 7.

Hours of Sunshine, 77 ; less by 18 hours.

Mean Amount of Cloud, 6·3 ; less by ·08.

NOVEMBER 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, 30·072 inches ; greater than the average of 1856–1900 by 0·242 inch.
 Monthly Range, 1·248 inch ; less by 0·296 inch.
 Mean Temperature, 41°·1 ; greater by 0°·2.
 Mean Daily Range of Temperature, 11°·8 ; greater by 1°·4.
 Mean Humidity, 86 ; less by 2·0.
 Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, 61°·0 ; greater by 4°·7.
 Do. at Night, 30°·4 ; less by 0°·7.
 Rain, Number of Days, 14 ; less by 2 days.
 Rain, Depth in Inches, 3·56 ; less by 0·28 inch.
 Wind, Mean Pressure on Square Foot, 1·80 lb. ; less by 0·10 lb.
 Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 4 to 12, and N. to S. as 7 to 5 ; in place of E. to W. as 5 to 10, and N. to S. as 6 to 6.
 Hours of Sunshine, 60 ; greater by 4 hours.
 Mean Amount of Cloud, 6·1 ; less by 0·38.

DECEMBER 1901—

Mean Barometric Pressure, 29·478 inches ; less than the average of 1856–1900 by 0·304 inch.
 Mean Monthly Range, 1·646 inch ; greater by 0·060 inch.
 Mean Temperature, 36°·4 ; less by 1°·6.
 Mean Daily Range of Temperature, 9°·2 ; less by 0°·4.
 Mean Humidity, 86 ; less by 1·8.
 Mean of Black Bulb in Sun, 48°·0 ; being the average.
 Do. at Night, 28°·3 ; less by 0°·3.
 Rain, Number of Days, 21 ; greater by 4 days.
 Rain, Depth in Inches, 4·74 ; greater by 0·58 inch.
 Wind, Mean Pressure on Square Foot, 2·30 lbs. ; greater by 0·27 lb.
 Wind, Direction of, E. to W. as 5 to 12, and N. to S. as 7 to 6 ; in place of E. to W. as 5 to 11, and N. to S. as 5 to 8.
 Hours of Sunshine, 40 ; less by 5.
 Mean Amount of Cloud, 6·5 ; less by 0·04.

Hence the weather of OCTOBER 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure a little above the average, with a monthly range a little below it ; a mean temperature nearly the average, with a mean daily range much above it ; a mean humidity slightly under the average ; a mean rainfall slightly above the average, but falling on three days more than the average ; a two days' excess of southerly winds, blowing with a mean force rather under the average.

The mean barometric pressure was 29·866 inches, or 0·054 inch above the average. To the south of the Grampians pressure was rather above the average, the greatest excess being 0·010 inch on the Solway ; but under the average to the north, the largest deficiency being 0·030 in Shetland and the Outer Hebrides. From the comparatively large deficiency in the north-west resulted the excess of southerly winds during the month.

The mean temperature was 46°·3, or 0°·2 less than the average, the days being 0°·6 above, but the nights 1°·0 under the average. Temperature was above the average in Shetland, Orkney, and over the south of Scotland south of the Forth and Clyde, the excess, however, being in all cases small. Over all the other districts in Scotland temperature was under the average, the largest deficiency, above one degree, being from the Ochils to the head of Strathspey. The absolutely highest temperature, 69°·3, occurred on the 2nd at Dumfries, and the lowest, 23°·3, on the 26th at Braemar. At a large number of stations temperature did not fall to freezing.

The mean rainfall was 4·19 inches, being 4 per cent. above the average. It was very irregularly distributed over Scotland. It was under the average to the east of a line passing from Wolfelee through Stronvar, Fort Augustus, Glencarron, and Cromarty. The deficiency was greatest, about 50 per cent., between the Cheviots and the Firth of Forth. Elsewhere the rainfall was above the average, in certain districts largely so, being generally about 50 per cent. of excess in Galloway and Argyllshire. At Cally it was 120 per cent. above the average. Taken as a whole, the weather in Scotland for the month was exceptionally wet. The disastrous storm of the 5th to the 7th was both widespread and protracted.

Hence the weather of NOVEMBER 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure very much above the average, with a monthly range much under the average; a mean temperature nearly the average, with a large mean daily range; a mean humidity a good deal under the average; a mean rainfall, slightly less than the average, falling on 2 days fewer than the average; and a 3 days' excess of west-north-westerly winds.

The mean barometric pressure was 30·072 inches, or 0·242 inch above the average. The excess of pressure was considerably greater in the west than in the east, resulting in an increase of north-westerly winds.

The mean temperature was 41°·1, or 0°·2 above the average, the days being 0°·9 above, and the nights 0°·5 under the average, the higher temperature of the days being occasioned by the increased sunshine. In the west temperature was about a degree above the average; in the east nearly the average; but in Shetland and Galloway it was nearly a degree under the average. The absolutely highest temperature was 60°·0 on the 20th at Airds, and the lowest 6°·0 on the 16th at Braemar.

The mean rainfall was 3·56 inches, or 7 per cent. under the average. The distribution of the rain was unusually irregular. It was above the average on the south shore of the Moray Firth and for some distance inland, and to the south of a line drawn from North Berwick to Campbeltown. Over the rest of Scotland the rainfall was under the average. The deficiency was greatest over a broad district extending from Skye eastwards through Scotland to the east coast from Aberdeen to Fife. The rain fell chiefly from the 7th to the 21st, and was heaviest from the 18th to the 21st.

The outstanding feature of the weather of November was the disastrous north-easterly gale of the 12th. The damage to shipping and loss of life on the east coast was very great, and inland there was a complete break-down of the telegraph wires.

Thunder and auroras were not reported.

Thus the weather of DECEMBER 1901 was characterised by a mean barometric pressure unusually low, with a monthly range a little above the average; a mean temperature considerably below the average, with a mean daily range a little below it; a mean humidity slightly less than the average; a mean rainfall rather above the average, and falling on four days more than the average; and four days' excess of winds from the quarter between NE. and NW., blowing with a force well above the average.

The mean barometric pressure was 29·478 inches, or 0·304 inch below the average. Since 1856 the mean pressure of December has been only twice lower, viz., in 1868 and 1876, when it was respectively 29·312 inches and 29·409 inches. The relative depression was much greater in the south than in the north, and in the east than in the west. This geographical distribution of the pressure, together with the steep gradients, accounts for the direction and force of the wind which prevailed.

The mean temperature was 36°·4, or 1°·6 lower than the average, the days being 1°·8 and the nights 1°·4 under the average. Everywhere temperature was less than the average. Generally, the cold was least near the coast and greatest at inland stations. The deficiency was nearly three degrees at Wolfelee, Drumlanrig, Cally, Leadhills, Kingussie, Fort Augustus, and Lairg. On the other hand, it was scarcely a degree at the eastern coast stations from Orkney to Fifeshire. The highest temperature was 58°·0 on the 1st at Perth, and the lowest 9°·5 on the 7th at Braemar.

The mean rainfall was 4·74 inches, or 14 per cent. above the average. It was under the average at some scattered stations in the north-west, and in central Argyll, and adjoining parts of Renfrew, Bute, and Dumbarton. The rainfall in other districts was above the average. The excess was 110 per cent. in Arran, 89 per cent. at Stobo Castle, and 56 per cent. at Gordon Castle; but at the other stations it was moderate. The weather was cold, damp, and disagreeable. From the 12th to the 14th a severe snow-storm occurred, and gales were of frequent occurrence. Snow fell frequently from the 14th to near the end of the month, when milder weather set in. Thunder occurred on the 8th, 9th, and 19th.

REGISTRARS' NOTES.

IN compliance with the following Instructions, many of the Registrars have appended remarks to their Returns, from which the subjoined Notes have been selected. The Registrars alone must be considered responsible for the opinions which they express.

INSTRUCTIONS TO REGISTRARS.

"If, at any time, the Births (whether legitimate or illegitimate), the Deaths, or the Marriages registered during the Quarter have been above or below the average, here state what you consider to be the cause, and whether epidemics, such as Measles, Typhus, Cholera, etc., have prevailed in the District; or if there is any other fact in the character of the Weather, Sanitary or Social Arrangements, Movement of the Population, etc., which will account for the circumstance."

The Figures refer to the Numbers of the Districts in the preceding Tables.

I. NORTHERN DIVISION.

2. ORKNEY.

15. EDAY AND PHARAY.—The death-rate for the year is unprecedentedly high.

33 (1). WESTRAY.—Deaths very much above the average. One case of Enteric Fever and a few of Influenza, but the majority are of people declining for some time, who succumbed on the incoming of the wintry weather.

3. CAITHNESS.

36. DUNNET.—Scarlet Fever and German Measles (generally of a mild type) prevalent.

4. SUTHERLAND.

45. CLYNE.—Deaths for the year above the average. Nine were of infants under one year. Three cases of Diphtheria.

53. LAIRG.—Of the nine deaths registered, four were of females aged 79, 80, 85 and 98 years.

II. NORTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

5. ROSS AND CROMARTY.

Mainland.

60 (1). CONTIN.—The average age of six of the seven persons whose deaths were registered during the year was 83 years, the eldest being 96.

66 (2). SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF GAIRLOCH.—The majority of the deaths resulted from old age.

79. RESOLIS.—Schools closed for six weeks owing to an epidemic of Measles. One death therefrom.

81. ROSSKEEN.—Four of the deaths during December were of persons aged respectively 81, 82, 87 and 90 years.

Insular.

86a. BARVAS.—Hooping-Cough prevalent since beginning of quarter, causing eleven deaths—all in December. The number of marriages for the year, eighteen, is the smallest recorded, except in 1888, when it was sixteen.

6. INVERNESS.

Mainland.

95. DAVIOT AND DUNLIGHTY.—No marriages recorded during the year, these usually taking place in Inverness. One of the two deaths was caused by a quarry accident.

Insular.

109 (2). MINGINISH.—One of the two deaths was that of a sailor accidentally drowned.

111 (1). NORTH HARRIS.—A widow died aged 95 years.

113. NORTH UIST.—Scarlet Fever prevalent for the last eight months, five cases proving fatal.

114 (1). PORTREE.—One of the deaths was that of a seaman found dead on the beach, whose death was certified as due to a fracture of the skull.

III. NORTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

9. BANFF.

149a. BOYNDIE.—The seven marriages occurred amongst the fishing population, owing, no doubt, to the successful herring fishing in the south.

152. ENZIE.—Of the deaths recorded, one was that of a child accidentally killed by the falling of a cart, and another that of a woman from drowning.

154. FORGLEN.—Of the six deaths, three were of infants who died shortly after birth.

157 (2). GLENLIVAT.—Two of the four females who died were aged 88 and 99 years.

10. ABERDEEN.

182. COULL.—Marriages for the quarter and also for the year are above the average. The custom seems again reviving of celebrating the marriage at the bride's home, instead of at some public building in a neighbouring town, as was recently the tendency.

197. FYVIE.—Deaths for the year much under the average. Marriages are fewer than usual but a number of persons belonging to the district were married at places beyond its bounds.

198. GARTLY.—No marriages recorded during the year. A number of proclamations were made, but in all cases the ceremonies were performed elsewhere.

223a. OLD DEER.—The number of marriages for the year is the smallest on record. The falling off is partly accounted for by the practice, now common, of having the ceremony performed in a hotel in Aberdeen.

232 (2). BODDAM.—Of the ten marriages for the year, six were registered in December, the result of the altered conditions of the fishing industry.

IV. EAST-MIDLAND DIVISION.

12. FORFAR.

272 (2). ST. VIGEANS.—The deaths include one case of Homicide and one of Suicide.

276. CARMYLIE.—The only death is that of an infant two days old.

300. LETHNOT AND NAVAR.—The two deaths resulted from Cancer.

307 (1). MAINS (LANDWARD).—Three of the deaths for the year occurred in Dundee Small-pox hospital. Measles epidemic; one fatal case.

13. PERTH.

326. ABERNETHY.—Four of the six deaths were of persons aged over 70 years, the eldest being 84.

328a. ALYTH.—Six of the fourteen deaths were of persons aged over 70 years, three being 85.

328c. ARNGASK.—The number of deaths for the year (16) is much above the average. Nine were of elderly persons, whose ages ranged from 68 to 91. One death resulted from a cycle accident and one from drowning.

330. AUCHTERGAVERN.—Parties contracting marriage usually have the ceremony performed in Perth or elsewhere.

339. CLUNIE.—No marriages registered during the year, owing to the fact that parties go to a neighbouring town to be married.

359. INCHTURE.—Parish healthy; no deaths recorded during the year.

387. PERTH.—Birth-rate is still below the average.

14. FIFE.

402. ANSTRUTHER-EASTER.—Of the fifteen deaths registered for the year, five were of females aged respectively 80, 80, 81, 86 and 87 years.

420. CUPAR.—Of the thirty-one deaths, eight occurred in the Fife and Kinross Asylum and one resulted from drowning in the River Eden.

447 (1). MARKINCH.—Of the thirty-one deaths ten occurred in Thornton Poorhouse.

455. SALINE.—The four deaths were all of children under fourteen years of age.

458b. TULLIALLAN.—One death was caused by drowning.

15. KINROSS.

464. PORTMOAK.—Of the twenty-two deaths registered during the year, eight were of females whose average age was 89½ years.

V. WEST-MIDLAND DIVISION.

17. STIRLING.

475. CAMPSIE.—Deaths much above the average owing to epidemics of Enteric Fever and Hooping-Cough.

481b. (2) GRANGEMOUTH.—The deaths for December include five cases of drowning and one case of Small-pox, the latter a Seaman removed from a sailing vessel.

484. KIPPEN.—Deaths for the year above the average. A large number are of very old persons.

19. ARGYLL.

Insular.

551 (2). COLL.—The marriage recorded is the only one for more than three years. Nearly all marriages of parties belonging to the district take place in Glasgow or Oban.

20. BUTE.

553 (2). KILBRIDE.—Public schools closed owing to the prevalence of Measles. The disease was of a mild type and no deaths resulted.

VI. SOUTH-WESTERN DIVISION.

21. RENFREW.

565. HOUSTON AND KILLELLAN.—Public school closed during November and December owing to the prevalence of Measles, from which one death resulted. Another death was due to burning.

22. Ayr.

577 (1). AUCHINLECK.—The births include three cases of twins.

578 (1). AYR.—A slight outbreak of Measles occurred, resulting in six deaths. Scarlet Fever caused two deaths, and Enteric one.

593. GALSTON.—Measles and Pneumonia very prevalent amongst children under five years of age.

613 (2). CATRINE.—Death-rate very low. One of the three deaths was due to Hooping-Cough.

23. LANARK.

682 (3). HAYWOOD.—Registrations show a general decrease owing to the removal of population consequent on the closing of the largest colliery in the district.

646 (3). PARTICK (PARTICK PORTION).—Twenty deaths in December were due to Measles.

VII. SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

25. EDINBURGH.

682. CURRIE.—Four of the eight deaths were of persons over 75 years of age. One death was caused by a railway accident.

691. LASSWADE.—One death resulted from exposure, one from accidental drowning, and one from an accident in a coal pit.

26. HADDINGTON.

717. PRESTONKIRK.—Five of the eight deaths occurred in the County Combination Poorhouse.

27. BERWICK.

735. DUNS.—Several cases of Diphtheria—two fatal.

740. FOGO.—The only death was that of a lad killed by falling off a horse.

28. PEEBLES.

762 (2). WALKERBURN.—Public school closed for three weeks owing to the prevalence of Diphtheria. Five deaths therefrom.

VIII. SOUTHERN DIVISION.

31. DUMFRIES.

828. GLENCARNE.—A female died in December aged over 100 years.

837 (2). SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF KIRKPATRICK-FLEMING.—The deaths include one case of Suicide.

32. KIRKCUDBRIGHT.

874. KIRKPATRICK-DURHAM.—A few cases of Scarlatina of a mild type.

33. WIGTOWN.

885. GLASSERTON.—One of the deaths is that of a male aged 87 years, who, after being missing for three weeks, was found dead in a plantation near his home.

* The actual number of Districts is 1072—many Parishes and Burghs having been divided into two or more Districts for the purpose of Registration. Thus Edinburgh and Glasgow, to each of which only a single number is assigned in the Tables, consist of 6 and 14 Districts respectively. In forming the alphabetical arrangement the principle adopted has been to place compound names in the order in which they are pronounced.
